Kingston Selected As Convention City For 1936 By Masonic Order

Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of The State of New York Accept Invitation To Meet Here.

OFFICERS NAMED

Mayor Heiselman and Ancient City Council, No. 21, of Kingston, Extended the Invitation.

Kingston has been selected as the convention city for 1936 by the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of the State of New York. The annual convention is attended by about 250 delegates from the state and with the wives of delegates the number attending the conventions usually is about 350.

The selection of Kingston for 1936 was made at the 112th annual assembly of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of the State of New York which met in Schenectady Monday. Grand Master S. Ormond Goldman of New York city presided. St. George Council, No. 74, were the hosts and everyone enjoyed their hospitality. There were trips through the General Electric Company works and the House of Magic. The ladies who accompanied their husbands were taken on a sight-seeing tour and given a luncheon at Ash Grove Farm, Saratoga Springs.

Among the distinguished visitors present were Grand Masters and staff from the Grand Councils of Ohio, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Canada, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Connecticut. Also the Grand High Priest of Royal Arch Masons of New York, the Grand Commander and the Deputy Grand Commander of Knights Templars of the State of New York and John B. Mullen, deputy for the State of New York of the A. A. S. R. Masons.

Officers elected for the ensuing year include: Grand Master, A. A. Edwards, Kingston; Grand Master, Raymond E. West, Rochester; deputy grand master, Charles B. Weller, Mt. Vernon; grand principal conductor of the work, E. Parker Waggoner, Buffalo; grand captain of the guard, Edward Feih, Bronx; grand conductor of the council, Chester D. Crowell, Syracuse; grand standard bearer, George W. Gulick, Kingston; grand marshal, Harlan S. Perigo, New York; grand steward, Oliver H. LeBasse, New York; George R. Hemingway, Elmira; John A. Dertick, Brooklyn; grand trustees, the Rev. Jerome Kates, Rochester, grand chaplain; Albert S. An invitation from Ancient City Council, No. 21, of Kingston and from Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman to hold its next annual session in Kingston, was unanimously accepted and the date was set for August 31, 1936. The only change adopted in the laws was one allowing the Councils to lower their initiation fees to $10 if they wished.

Those who attended from the local Council were: Paul Jones, master; F. P. Richter, deputy master; and Past Masters W. Frank Davis, George W. Gulick and Harry G. Krom.

PREDICTS J. J. WALKER WILL REPLACE WILL ROGERS

New York, Aug. 28 (AP).—Dandified James J. Walker's return to New York as a successor to the late Will Rogers was envisioned today by James J. Lyons, Bronx Borough president.

He was asked if he thought the former mayor of New York who quit under fire would return from Europe to re-enter politics, since the Justice Department has announced it will drop its income tax investigation.

"It looks as if he would not," Lyons said, "but personally I think he will take the place of Will Rogers as entertainer, columnist, and radio speaker."

"In my opinion he is the outstanding humorist of the country. I know he will be welcomed back by many old admirers."

Treasury Receipts

Drunk Driving Convicted
Tulsa, N. T., Aug. 26 (AP).—A report of a "spectacular" drunk driving was made today by the New York State Association of Police Chiefs. In conversation here, the report was made by Dr. Theron W. Skinner, associate surgeon of the association. He said the increase had occurred in both state and national and the recommended three steps for controlling the situation—immediate physical examination of the driver after arrest, mandatory jail sentences and revocation of licenses.

ERB to Function for Month of September, WPA Not Ready Yet

Indications Point to Fact That New Works Progress Administration Will Not Start Functioning Until Cold Weather—ERB May Be Able to Complete Its Projects.

Although no official word has been received as yet at the local emergency relief bureau on Broadway indications point to the fact that the ERB will continue to function here during September and probably until the first of November, as the New Works Progress Administration that was to place men at work is not ready yet to function.

No one in authority or in a position to speak authoritatively in Kingston is able to give any definite information as to when the new Roosevelt plan will start functioning. If it is not placed in operation until cold weather it will mean that in order to give men work they will only be able to gather up the leaves in the fall and shovel snow in the winter for no street work can be started.

If the ERB continues to function through September and October as it would now appear it will mean that the ERB will be able to complete practically all the projects now under way in the city, including the rebuilding of Henry street.

The work of rebuilding Henry street has reached that point when from now on more money will be expended for materials to be used than for labor. For that reason alone it is not expected that the WPA would approve the Henry street project as under the WPA plan as outlined by President Roosevelt out of every $1,000 allotted, approximately $400 has to be expended for labor.

It would appear that if the expenditure of the allotment of WPA money is not changed so that materials needed in road building may be purchased that very little worthwhile projects may be completed under the WPA.

Under the ERB setup Kingston has received value for the amount of money expended in the rebuilding of the old armory, the building of new power systems and other worthwhile projects, including the construction of the incinerating plant and the new city laboratory.

Supplies Shipped
New York, Aug. 28 (AP).—The committee in Ethiopia announced today the first shipment of medical supplies from the United States for the Ethiopian Red Cross. A shipment yesterday arrived at the port of Djibouti. Robert Herrell, secretary of the committee, said a national campaign would be conducted in September for the benefit of the Ethiopian Red Cross.

London, Aug. 28 (AP).—Labor movements against Italy in her conflict with Ethiopia and the backing of two foreign nations for Great Britain's peace campaign at Geneva were reported today.

British and continental labor leaders were said to be considering joint action by general strikes throughout Europe and by boycotts to hamper Italian war moves.

Ambassador Ramon Perez de Araya of Spain and Charles Zarine, the minister of Latvia, were indicated by informed quarters to have assured the British government that the governments they represent will support the British policy at Geneva in the council session September 4.

At the same time, Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, discussed the general European situation with Senator James P. Pope (D-Iowa) and reviewed problems of the dominions with Stanley M. Bruce, high commissioner for Australia.

Senator Pope's visit, the foreign office emphasized, was entirely private. It was stated that Ray Atherton, the United States charge d'affaires, introduced him to Sir Samuel as a prominent American citizen and it was announced that no communication or statement of an official character entered into their conversation.

These reported plans, which are to be reviewed by the trade union congress at Margate next week, include strikes against handling supplies destined to Italy.

When C. R. Attlee, deputy opposition leader in the House of Commons, conferred in Paris recently with Leon Blum, French Socialist leader, he carried out instructions from George Lansbury, leader of the opposition party in Parliament, to exchange views and possibly lay groundwork for future joint action in the industrial field.

Results of cabinet meetings today at Bologna, Italy, and Paris were awaited with keenest interest at Whitehall, where Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, and Anthony Eden, minister for League of Nations affairs, were putting the finishing touches on the announcement of British policy to be made at the League Council September 4.

Can Bank Fail
Adelle Adams, Aug. 28 (AP).—Temperatures today ordered a can bank still Friday to continue supporting nations that promote peace are not the focus of peace.

The bank's refusal was decided upon after an American correspondent, trying to get a can bank in a hotel corridor, met a half dozen Ethiopians, who had sleeping in the corridor. A fight with the British police followed from the heavy drop of the thunder and the preparations for the

New Deal Is Anxious to Speed Supreme Court Ruling on NRA Future

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP).—Reversing legal tactics it used in fighting for the ill-starred NRA, the New Deal is seeking to expedite the supreme court rulings upon which the political future largely depends.

The shift was acknowledged today at the department of justice. Observers recalled that the government was in no haste to press a final test of NRA.

Now, however, justice department officials are seeking early settlement by the high court of the constitutionality of the AAA.

Adversaries also are aiming at prompt determination of the question whether TVA is valid, and the administration evidently plans soon to contest a Cincinnati circuit court decision against government slum clearance policy.

Although there has not yet been time for court challenges of the disputed laws enacted in the closing days of congress, the New Deal and foes alike expect some as quickly as opportunity affords.

Counsel for utilities have hit upon a method for early test of the holding company regulation bill, regardless of the fact that its provision for dissolution of certain holding companies does not become effective until 1937. The plan involves asking security commission approval for a bond issue maturing years later.

Should the commission refuse approval, because the company was to be subject to dissolution before the maturity date, then validity of the new law would be up to the courts.

Protesters against police control are under way, with a band of New Jersey women, pledging themselves to resist all police institutional action by the United Automobile Workers against the Bendix plant at South Bend, Ind., is expected to thrust the Workers' labor law into the courts if it succeeds.

Steel companies, availing their own mines are believed to be making ready to attack the Guffey bituminous coal regulation act, once it gets rolling.

In Italy, even before the social security and pension reform organizations attacked, government law enforcement agents will confront both.

City Will Receive 20 Art Objects Valued at $3,000, Relief Project

Woodstock Artists Complete Work Relief Art Projects, The Majority To Be Hung in the Kingston High School.

BRIEF SUMMARY

Art Objects Accepted by Kingston's Art Committee Valued at Approximately $3,000.

The work relief art project of the Woodstock artists consisting of paintings, etchings, murals and sculpture for the public buildings in Kingston has been completed, and Kingston's art committee has approved and accepted 20 art objects, the majority of which are paintings which are to be hung in the Kingston High School. There is one sculptured piece, that of a deer by Paul Fiene, which has been completed in plaster but must now be poured in bronze. This statue when completed will be placed in Academy Park. Of the 14 paintings that have been accepted, one will be placed in the Common Council chambers in the city hall, another in the new armory and the remainder in the high school.

A brief summary of the art objects accepted by Kingston's Art Committee and which, according to Judson Smith, who supervised the project, are valued at approximately $3,000, are:

A landscape showing the brick yards by Harry Gottlieb.

Two rural landscapes by Dorothy Gilbert.

A portrait of George Washington by Charles Rosen.

A winter scene on the Rondout creek and a view of the Rondout Creek Bridge, both by Cecil Chichester.

A brickyard landscape by Roland Mousseau.

Two flower studies by Paul Holland.

A view of the Rondout Creek Bridge by Jack Bentley.

A large painting depicting a polo game by Tode Brower (this is to be hung in the new armory).

The Old First Dutch Church by Cecil Chichester.

A landscape by Frank Chase.

A landscape by Henry Mattson (this painting has been delivered and is hanging in the mayor's office at the city hall).

Three etchings by Ivan Summers.

Sculpture of a deer by Paul Fiene.

As a relief in bronze of the late Dr. Myron J. Michael by John Banks.

Murals by Blanch

The collection comprises but two murals about four feet wide and 12 feet long which are to be placed in the upper corridor of the high school. These two murals are by Arnold Blanch and depict industrial and cultural art. At first a mural depicting the burning of Kingston had been planned, but this idea was not carried out by any of the artists on the project.

All Ready But Framing

Mr. Smith, supervisor of the art project, when seen at his School of Painting at Woodstock yesterday stated that all of the paintings had been completed and were now being framed and when that was done they would be delivered to Kingston.

The framing will not be completed so that the pictures may be hung before school opens after the summer vacation. The frames to be used in framing the pictures are the work of artists at Woodstock and they are being planned to set off the pictures to the best advantage.

Kingston's Art Committee

When the project of employing artists to turn out works of art as a work relief project was first discussed, Mr. Smith was selected to supervise the project and authorized to engage needy artists who would be able to carry out the work planned.

Mayor C. J. Heiselman appointed Anton Otto Fischer, world known painter and illustrator, Edward C. Kendall and Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck.

This committee spent considerable time and thought and Mr. Smith when seen yesterday, said the committee had shown excellent taste in its selection of the art projects to be completed.

Roosevelt Signs Gold Suit Ban Into Law, Meets Hull Today on Soviet Relations

Survey of States Shows WPA Causes Speculation

(By The Associated Press)

Uncertainty when works progress projects will be approved and funds made available brought concern to many states today.

An Associated Press survey of 31 states and the District of Columbia found less than a half dozen of those reporting could say definitely where they stood.

Many states were tardy in sending applications to Washington, and additional delay was encountered there, partly due to the intricacy of the system set up for disbursing the $4,800,000,000 fund.

It appeared certain many states, and even individual communities, must take over a considerable relief load before November 1, when the works program is expected to reach full stride.

In virtually all states there will be a perceptible gap between abandonment of the federal emergency relief administrations and assumption of the relief task by the WPA. Several states advised the WPA will be continued in full force beyond that date, in some New York, for example, on a week-to-week basis until WPA takes over.

Robinson Says Change In Senate Rules Ahead To End All Filibusters

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP).—Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, announced today that an amendment to the Senate rules would be presented next session designed to end such filibusters as the one by Senator Long (D., La.), Monday night which blocked action on the $102,000,000 third deficiency appropriation bill.

His formal statement, made just before departure for an extended automobile trip, did not disclose the exact nature of the plan.

"The one man filibuster by Senator Long, which resulted in defeating the supplemental appropriation bill, carrying funds for the administration of old age pensions, old age unemployment, railway pensions, crippled children, dependent blind and aged mothers, has disgusted the Senate and the country," he said.

"Sustaining and great inconvenience will result."

"There will be presented at the beginning of next session an amendment to the rules, designed to end the 'one man filibuster.'"

Long spoke for five and a half hours at the end of the session in protest against the failure of the House to vote on the Senate amendments to the deficiency bill providing loans on cotton and wheat.

Robinson's announcement came as a surprise to observers because, despite some abuses, the Senate has always protected the right to filibuster.

For years there have been periodic demands for changing the rules to limit debate in one way or another. The majority has always held it was the only parliamentary body where unlimited free speech was permitted.

Though there have been minor changes, none has touched on the idea of limiting debate beyond a rule adopted almost 20 years ago permitting closure by two-thirds vote.

The closure rule is not effective in the case of such a filibuster as conducted by Long Monday night. It cannot be made effective until the second day after its proposal and then limits each senator to one hour's debate.

This rule has rarely been invoked by the Senate and even since its adoption there have been many filibusters blocking legislation.

Wants Them "To Get Tough"

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP).—Senator W. H. Herron, update New York WPA administrator, wants public welfare officials to "get tough" with those who refuse jobs. Imputing Hugh S. Johnson told the state stand, the administrator told the state stand yesterday. "If you are not working for non-support, if you are not working for your wife and children, if you are not working for your own family, you don't have to take care of them."

Indicted for Espionage

Berlin, Aug. 28 (AP).—The six-hundred execution of Hermann Goebbels, German propaganda minister, was announced today by the Reichstag. He was accused of espionage and treason. The Reichstag also announced the execution of Goebbels' wife, Magda, and their children. The Reichstag also announced the execution of Goebbels' children. The Reichstag also announced the execution of Goebbels' children.

Indicates That He Soon Will Sign Neutrality and Guffey Coal Measures and Will Veto Some Legislation.

TO TRAVEL WEST

President Will Leave for the West Coast Trip Latter Part of September.

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP).—His desk still piled high with last minute bills, President Roosevelt disclosed today he had signed the gold suit ban into law and soon would do the same with the neutrality and Guffey coal measures.

Some of the minor legislation will be vetoed, he informed his press conference, without telling which.

Necessarily for considering the strained relations with Russia and how to finance a start for the social security program combined with other tasks to preclude the planned week-end rest at Hyde Park. He worked until one a. m. today.

Reporters were told the neutrality resolution was satisfactory to him. It provides an embargo against two belligerent nations and therefore is considered by him to meet the existing situation.

He did express a little disappointment that the resolution failed to include any power over loans to warring countries.

The president said he also would sign shortly the Guffey bill to establish NRA wage and hour standards in the bituminous industry.

He agreed with information in official quarters yesterday that it would not be possible to distribute new any of the benefit payments provided by the defeated deficiency appropriation bill carrying funds for the social security program.

He was hopeful of setting up the administrative machinery to put this vast undertaking in operation as soon as congress can authorize the money in January.

However, after consultation with Comptroller General McCarl and congressional leaders, he said no legal way had been found so far to make the intended benefit payments for crippled children, dependent widows and old age pensions.

The appropriation bill carrying $76,000,000 for this work was lost by the filibuster of Senator Long (D-La.), who refused to let it come to a vote in the closing rush.

The administration leadership plans to attempt an amendment to senate rules next session making such filibusters impossible.

Mr. Roosevelt probably will go on his trip to the west coast the last week in September.

The only definite places he has put on his itinerary are the Boulder Canyon dam site on the Colorado river and the California-Pacific Exposition at San Diego.

He hopes to return by way of the Panama Canal, and is expected to visit in Texas with Vice-President Garner and with Senator Robinson of Arkansas on the way back to the capital.

Remembering that he worked until one o'clock this morning, the President expressed uncertainty whether he would get away for his visit home at Hyde Park, N. Y., before the week-end.

He wants to effect the new legislation piled on his desk by congress in his last days, before leaving the White House.

Census Is Rejected

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP).—President Roosevelt was reported today to have turned "thumbs down" on a vast census bureau project which called for the employment of 124,000 persons. The plan was to make a nationwide survey, beginning November 1, of the country's population, including youths and their occupations. The works progress administration board a fortnight ago recommended the expenditure of $14,000,000 for the project, but President Roosevelt disapproved the plan.

Arrives at Malta

Valletta, Malta, Aug. 28 (AP).—The British war ship carrier Glomac arrived today and her crew immediately began preparations for the evacuation of the Sicilian army. When the Glomac, formerly stationed at Gibraltar, starts out she will be accompanied by H. M. S. Revenge and Valiant—two of Great Britain's best known battleships—and the first and third cruiser squadrons. The combined fleet will cruise the Suez district.

Japanese Demands

Tokyo, Aug. 28 (AP).—Japan today demanded an apology, compensation, and compensation for the families of victims of the train hold-up at Shanhaiwan two weeks ago and 17 deaths and three injuries. Through the Japanese consul general, a formal apology was submitted to the British government. It demanded an apology from the railway director, guaranteeing against any recurrence of the outrage, and damages for the families of the victims.

Prenot, Clinton street, Nanjanoeh, Ulster county, are among the candidates who passed the recent examinations for the position of fire inspector, in the employ of the State Mental Hygiene Department, according to an announcement made by the State Civil Service Commission. The position, which is expected to be an appointment at the Pillarim State Hospital, at Kink's Park, will pay an annual salary of $1,500 and maintenance. The commission stated that there were 80 candidates who passed the examinations, 15 who failed, 13 who were absent and 25 rejected.

SECRETARY DERN SEES WARFARE

Interested in what his charges were doing at the Pine Camp mimic war games, Secretary of War Darn paid a personal visit of inspection. Here he is shown (center) as he learned battle layouts from Maj. Gen. Dennis Nolan (left), commander of the First army, as Maj. Gen. George S. Simonds looked on. (Associated Press Photo)

Strategy Learned
From War Maneuvers

(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press)
Pine Camp, N. Y., Aug. 28.—The movement of armies, corps and division by trucks behind the front lines will probably become an accepted part of American military tactics because of the "surprise" element during attacks, it became apparent today as high commanding officers of the army assembled to determine what had been learned from the country's greatest military maneuvers here.

The new experiment in military maneuvering, it was said, proved especially valuable in connection with quick pursuit or flanking movements over a large front as it showed hitherto unassailable enemy areas vulnerable to surprise attacks. One officer commented: "With a division able to wheel along the road behind the lines at the rate of 150 miles a day, there is no reason why an army commander, seeking to crack a line at one point, could not start his attack with a feint at the opposite end."

"Then after his show of force has drawn the enemy out of position to protect its threatened area, he could load an entire division, less perhaps a regiment left behind as a holding force, on trucks, whisk them around behind by the extra division at the critical sector deliver telling blows at the enemy."

Major General Dennis E. Nolan, the army commander, was the principal leader at the critique while Major General Lucius R. Holbrook, commanding general of the second corps, and Major General Fox Conner, commander of the first corps, led discussions of the part their forces played in the mimic warfare.

Shocking Condition Natural Phenomena, Says Central Hudson

Last night The Freeman carried a story to the effect that there was apparently a "leak" in the electrical system in the vicinity of the central post office for when any one stood on the corner and was invited to ride in an auto that the one invited received a shock of electricity when attempting to open the car door.

"There is no leak in the electrical system at that point," said an official of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation this morning, "but the condition is simply a natural phenomena." He further explained that an auto traveling along the street picked up a static charge of electricity and that when a person grasped the metal handle of the car door to open it he would receive a shock under certain atmospheric conditions. This shock is imparted at certain times not only at the particular corner mentioned in the story but anywhere else in the city if the atmospheric conditions are just right.

The official said that it was realized by many that an auto in motion picked up a certain amount of static charge, which was not enough to prove dangerous to any one. It was for that reason that there was a state law that required the huge tank trucks of the gas companies to be provided with a chain which trailed on the ground behind the truck. If a truck was not provided with such equipment there was a possibility that an electric spark might be emitted when the truck halted to unload which would set fire to the tank of gas and cause it to blow up.

The official also said that recently his attention had been called to another natural phenomena that existed at the George Washington Bridge. He said that many auto drivers had complained that when they stopped to pay toll and handed the half dollar to the toll collector that they sustained a shock when the contact was made between the hand of the collector and the hand of the auto driver. This shock was just enough to prove an annoyance. Engineers studied on the problem and have had small wire brushes installed in the pavement and as the car passes over the brushes on the way to the toll gate the static that the car has gathered in its journey is brushed away and the auto driver does not feel an electric shock when paying his toll charge.

Real Estate Auction At Roosevelt Park

The Roosevelt Park Realty Co., developers of the Roosevelt Park section of the city, in which already 85 houses have been completed since the first one was built in 1925, have preparations about completed for their big real estate auction, which will begin Friday, August 30. The sale will continue Saturday and also on September 6, 7, 12 and 14.

S. C. Schultz, president of the company, states that there are about 50 acres in the plot to be offered for sale in building lots, all lying between Albany avenue and Kierstead avenue. The plot has recently been completely cleared and resurveyed and about 150 lots will be offered at auction. Most of the lots measure 50x128 feet. All are located within the city limits.

Several streets, including Madison, Wilson and Harding avenues and Savoy street have been laid out through the development and Mr. Schultz states that with TERA help the plot was surveyed and plans made for installation of a complete sewerage system.

MARKET FOR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

New York, Aug. 28 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets)—Quotations in the New York city downtown wholesale district up to 8 a. m.

The season's first Adirondack mountain cauliflower arrived today. It showed fair quality, and wholesaled at $1.25 per crate for the No. 1 stock, and at 87½ cents for the No. 2.

Jobbing transactions on celery in the rough packed in 2-3rd crates were reported at $2.25-$2.50 for the best; some fancy, however, commanded at high as $2.75, while fair quality brought $1.50-$1.75.

The market for onions was about steady. Orange county, New York, 50-lb. sacks of yellow onions, U. S. No. 1, sold from 70c-80c for the best. Red onions, U. S. No. 1, worked out chiefly at 75c, while white onions brought $1.00-$1.25 for the best, and from 50c-75c for poorer.

The apple market was about steady. Supplies were moderate, and the demand was fairly good for fancy fruit, but continued slow for ordinary. Hudson Valley McIntosh apples, N. Y. U. S. grade No. 1, 2½ inch jobbed out at $1.25-$1.50 per bushel basket, tub or open box. Rhode Island, Greening and Fall Pippin apples No. 1, 3 inch of fine quality realized $1.25, and North-western Greening No. 1, 2½ inch sold at 75c-$1.00. Miscellaneous varieties No. 1, 2½ to 2¾ inch jobbed out from 60c-85c, occasionally as high as $1.00.

Price fluctuations on Hudson Valley pears of most varieties were few and small since yesterday. Supplies were moderate, and the demand was fairly good, but confined to the best large size fruit. Bartlett pears No. 1, in bushel baskets or tub brought $1.25-$1.50. Clapp's Favorite ranged from $1.25-$1.75, and Seckel pears brought $1.00-$1.25.

Pine Bush-Ellenville Highway Bids Are Now Being Solicited

Among the highways being advertised for bids by the State Department of Public Works, Division of Highways, is the Pine Bush-Ellenville route, Part 3, a distance of 5.77 miles which will be constructed of concrete. This is the section of the road which runs over the Shawangunk mountain from Ellenville to Walker Valley. Bids for the road will be opened at Albany on September 17. A deposit of $12,000 will be required by bidders. The rough grading on the route has been practically completed and for some time the road has remained in a very rough condition. Announcement that bids have actually been solicited will be welcome news for people who are compelled to use the route. Other roads in this district which are being put up for bids are the Hudson-Hollowville-Crarryville road in Columbia county, a distance of 6.70 miles and the Chester-Vall's Gate highway in Orange county, a distance of 3.86 miles. Both of these roads will be bid on and the bids opened at Albany on September 17.

Mayor Addressed Players' Guild

The Kingston Players' Guild was host to Mayor C. J. Helselman at the regular meeting last night at the Y. M. C. A. The mayor, who is an honorary member of the Guild, according to a resolution recently adopted, was present to assure the new organization his ablest support and cooperation and to make known his great interest in the work of the Guild.

"Very few have opportunity to display their talent," Mayor Helselman said. "A program of this kind not only gives enjoyment and a chance to learn but also benefits the individual socially and brings talent to light. There are probably more Will Rogers in this country, and an organization like the Players' Guild will bring them to the public eye."

"I am very much interested in your organization and will help in all ways that I can to make it a success."

In preparation for the bill of one-act plays to be presented as the initial dramatic offering of the Players' Guild, William Heitzman, temporary chairman, appointed a play committee, consisting of George Teller, chairman; Miss Mildred Byrne and William Chazanof, to work in conjunction with the directors in selecting suitable plays. The committee is to report at the next meeting, Tuesday, September 3.

Before the meeting was adjourned, Stephen Brettfeller, vice chairman, suggested that Stuart Parks, who founded the Guild, be voted an honorary life member. The vote was unanimous.

BERGDOLL'S RECORD

Let anyone with a short memory
 tend to become sentimental about Grover Cleveland Bergdoll's wife and four little children, let us refer, for a moment, to the record in the last war the United States found
 it necessary to draft her young men.
 She called without favor or discrimination on high and low, rich
 and poor, Jew and Gentile, Black Man, Red Man, White. Most of them went bravely to sign their names and get their draft cards. Many thousands of them went on to war. Some were wounded, some killed. Most went full of high courage—not liking war but facing it.

Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, however, ran away. His mother helped him. He was caught, sentenced to prison. He asked to say good-bye to his mother and broke that parole,
 his mother helping, to flee the country. He hid in Germany, with which we were at war, and stayed till all the fighting was over. He wouldn't take any chances of getting hurt for his country—not he. At intervals
 since then he or his mother for him
 has pleaded that he be allowed to return. The United States—remember the boys who went when called, did their duty and suffered for it, remembering the brave mothers who fought their tears and stiffened the backbones of their sons—has said he could return to face the court-martial he deserves to face.

Now Mr. Bergdoll is trying once more to bargain with the United States because he wants for his children the education we give so freely
 to all within our gates. He wants,
 moreover, the handling of a fortune
 of $300,000 held in trust by the nation he insulted when he ran away,
 thinking only of his own skin.
 There are men who served their country well on the dole. The children of some of them have little enough in these hard days. Does the United States really want to be bothered with the children of Berg-
 doll who took the advantages America gave him and ran away at the first sign of trouble?

PROFITABLE CANAL

The Panama Canal, which has celebrated its 21st birthday, may now be regarded as definitely of age. A review of its career is reassuring.
 The capital cost of the canal to date
 is about $540,000,000. It has collected in tolls nearly $400,000,000,
 paid by more than $2,000 ships.
 Much of this, naturally, must be set off against operating costs. Even so,
 and in bad times, the Big Ditch seems to make money. Last fiscal year, ending June 30, it showed a surplus of $2,000,000 after paying $16,000,000 interest on the investment. This year it will do much better. Eventually its profits should wipe out its cost.

It is probably worth half a billion dollars, though, to the nation, just
 to have that canal to feel proud of,
 and to enable one naval fleet to protect us on both oceans. Fortunately,
 too, here is one national asset requiring no new outlay for some time.
 The average number of ships per day passing through last year was 15. It can handle more than three times
 that many. Talk of additional appropriations, therefore, either for this channel or a new one through Nicaragua, may be discounted. New canal work is far more likely on our northern border.

WORKING SOLDIERS

Here is another horrible example
 of the mental aberrations produced
 by war fever and mistaken patriotism. Turkey is to have military conscription for women. And not, as some outsiders might imagine, because military service is being forced on the women by a national crisis, or by those "horrible Turks" who in history have had little of the western attitude toward women. It is because the women themselves demand

The President of the Turkish Republic says:

We have given the Turkish women
 all they have asked for. Now that they request compulsory military service as part of their duty to the state, that also will be granted them.
 Therefore women will be required to accomplish the same acts as men for the protection of their country and the sublime rights of the nation.

Fortunately the President swings back to comparative sanity in his hedging conclusion: "But except in extreme emergency women will not be sent to the front. Any victory which cost the lives of a nation's women would be defeat."

THE PICK UP

Screws, roller bearings, rock drill
 bits, boxes and machines to make boxes, glass that will bend instead of breaking, plastic castings to cover
 things, barges to carry coal in,
 presses and bottle caps and pencils
 and electric welding machinery—
 these are a few of the things now going into high production. The grass may be growing where it shouldn't and the government may be spending what it cannot easily repay but something has happened
 just the same. The jam is cracking
 under the strain of long postponed
 demand.

Do you ask if we can bear it?
 Yes, Brother. Yes, We can.

That Body of Yours

BY
 James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)
 THYROID GLAND

I have spoken before of the work done in Boston and other cities in removing the thyroid gland in the neck in order that the heart will not beat so rapidly and so wear itself
 out. It is the juice from this gland that makes all the processes of the body (including the heart beat)
 work more rapidly.

A very interesting series of cases is reported by Dr. G. Bankoff in the Archives of Clinical Surgery, Berlin.
 There were two groups of patients,
 one group of 20 were old cases of advanced heart disease, angina pec-toris, and some with a slowing of the circulation—increased blood pressure, and the other group were young patients (19 to 30) who suffered with neurasthenia (tiredness),
 rapid heart beat, and their body processes were working faster than normal.

In the first group of 20 with real
 heart disease the body processes
 were working 15 to 25 per cent
 above normal. Following the total removal of the thyroid gland the rate fell to from 5 to 20 per cent
 above normal, the pulse became slower, the blood pressure came down to normal and the attacks of angina pectoris (breast pang) did not return. Those with advanced heart disease improved greatly—no
 breathlessness, palpitation, no
 swelling of the feet.

In the second group of ten with fast heart, increased rate of working of body processes but without any heart or blood vessel disease, just a part of the thyroid gland was removed.

There were no deaths in either
 group.

The patients of the second group
 were likewise cured of their symptoms.

From the above it would appear
 that in cases of severe heart disease
 and high blood pressure the whole
 thyroid gland should be removed,
 and in cases where there is the fast
 heart rate and the body processes are working too fast a part of the thyroid gland should be removed.

However no physician or patient likes the idea of an operation and will avoid it unless it is absolutely necessary. Thus Dr. Bankoff recommends total removal of the thyroid
 in those heart patients in whom all medical treatment has failed to bring about an improvement. He recommends the partial removal of the thyroid only for patients in whom medical treatment has failed to relieve rapid heart, tiredness, and tremor (trembling of the hands).

Thus when rest, the use of iodine,
 or other methods of treatment fail,
 it is satisfactory to know that operation offers such relief.

 events of the huge picnic and outing
 held at Poughkeepsie Park under the auspices of the Ulster County Farm

 that 20,000 people attended the picnic.

The Ulster county horse show pitched championship was won by Marl-

 State this year as compared with the 1934-1935 average. According to the 1934-1935 average, second crop of apples, pears and peaches in the State of New York State will be of Agriculture.

MORNING STAR

— BY MARIAN SIMS —

SYNOPSIS: Emily Felton has graduated from college with honors, and with three previous members. One is Judith Carroll, the dancing roommate she had as a Freshman. One is Judith's brother, David, whom Emily promised to marry just before the Carroll lost their old plantation. One is Charlotte, who succeeded Judith as roommate. But Judith is married, David lost her and her son, and Charlotte has a job. Emily appears, at the farewell dance, what she shall do.

CHAPTER 13

PUZZLED

MOST of the dancers, she thought enviously, were going back to school next week: most of them had one more year between them and what the lecturers ominously called Life.

It was only tonight that she had realized that school was over. Summer had been just another vacation,
 just as all the summers before this
 had been vacations, but this was September—the first September she could remember when there was nothing definite ahead of her.

Frances Felton had advocated a
 "year of play." "You've been away from us most of four years, and
 your father has counted so on having you at home," she had said
 subtly, realizing that Jeffrey's loss
 was her trump card.

"And besides, I think you really

Jack Cushing out in, grinning amiably.

need a vacation. Graduating from Ardmore is a very severe mental and physical strain."

To Frances it would probably have been a severe strain, but Frances was not twenty-one, and eager Frances was forty-six, and above all cautious.

She was also determined that Emily should never become "strong-minded," as the girls who went into the newer vocations invariably were; never realizing how complet-ly out-worn the term had become.

And, partly because Emily had no counter-proposition to make,
 Frances had won her point. You couldn't put a very stiff resistance to a thing when there was nothing you wanted very badly to do in its stead.

"A year of play." It sounded entrancing, but how did you go about it? With Edwin? Or with the youths who were at this moment shouting
 the belligerent words of the Washington and Lee Swing?

She had grown up with these boys; had seen them recently emerge from the awkward stages of adolescence; and whatever charms
 they might possess were blurred by familiarity, just as her own charms
 were probably blurred for them.

That, she decided, was why so many marriages were made between people from different towns: the glamour of strangeness and mystery.

Jack Cushing cut in, grinning amiably. "What's your program for the year, Bachelor of Arts?"

She sighed. "I wish I knew.
 Bridge, I suppose, and the Woman's Club. Or maybe a troop of girl scouts."

He frowned. "It sounds bad. But then, you might be teaching school,
 and nothing could be worse than that. Bridge and girl scouts may help you to live down that Ardmore
 diploma, but if you begin to teach you're lost."

SHE laughed heartily, thinking
 how Charlotte, for different reasons, had said the same thing. "But what's the use in getting a diploma
 if you have to live it down?"

Politics at Random

By BYRON PRICE
 (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

LOOKING back over the
 eight months of the congressional session, one of the most difficult things to understand is what happened to the
 "wild men" who were supposed at the turn of the year to be in complete possession of capital
 hill.

Political memory is notoriously
 short, but perhaps readers will recall that after the elections of 1934,
 one of the paramount topics of speculation was whether President Roosevelt would be able to hold
 within reasonable bounds the untamed spirit of radicalism which presumably had been voted into legislative power.

The inflationists were rampant.
 The Townsend plan was sweeping eastward like a prairie fire. The forces of revolution and communism
 were rising. Could the President stem the tide?

There can be no question that the session has witnessed an appreciable swing toward the right in legislation, although the trend has fallen far short of many predictions. The interesting thing, however, is to inquire into the origins of this trend.

Bills Modified

THE first legislative proposal of the session was the $4,800,000, 000 works relief appropriation. It came, not from "wild men" in congress, but from the White House.
 Actually, it was received amid some indications of shocked surprise at the capitol, and congress demurred
 for weeks before accepting it.

Then followed a long list of measure, submitted with Presidential approval. They included the utilities
 bill, the social security bill, the bank
 bill, the AAA and TVA amendments,
 the Guffey coal bill, the wealth taxes,
 the bill to prohibit gold clause suits,
 and others.

The record is that almost every one of these measures was modified
 by the men in congress to take out
 some of the more extreme provisions.

Only with respect to one important issue—the bonus—did the President find it necessary to use the veto. The inflationary threat never arose except in that bill. The Townsend plan and other leftist movements which the country heard so much of eight months ago mustered only a handful of support at the capitol.

What actually happened was ab-

Loyalty

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

Mr. X was something of a drinker.
 He was not often drunk, but frequently took just enough to feel
 "elated." As is so often the case, the drink was not a disease but a symptom. He was worried about finances and discontented with his work, and liquor helped him to forget.

His wife, who had been brought up with a fear and loathing of drink,
 had no understanding of his state of mind. To her his habits were bestial, and a demoralizing influence on the children. She hesitated to say so, and held Mr. X up to his children as a shocking example of the degrading effects of drink.

The results, as might be expected,
 were increased unhappiness and more drinking by Mr. X. Even his family life had grown insupportable
 with his children set against him.

In the end the children left home as soon as they were able, disliking the atmosphere of disapproval and quarreling which it held, and Mr. and Mrs. X were left alone.

No matter how strongly a woman
 may disapprove of her husband's behavior, she makes a great mistake
 when she criticizes it to the children.
 The implication is that he is not responsible and mature and therefore not worthy of their respect. It is no kindness to the children, whatever his faults may be, to tear down what should be an ideal and put a warning
 in its place.

The father has quite as much right to the children as the mother, and the children have a right to both parents. Far from strengthening the mother's position, her criticism will rouse resentment in the children,
 thus depriving of a part of their rightful heritage and will make the home-life unhappy, eventually an-tagonizing the youngsters and sending them into the world lonely and with unhappy memories of their youth.

"I wanted to ask you to marry me," he began haltingly. "You must have known I love you; that I've loved you ever since we were children. Before this I wasn't in any position to tell you, but now I am."

"I'm making three hundred and fifty dollars a month and we could live comfortably on that. If you could love me enough to marry me
 I'd be the happiest man on earth."

He stopped abruptly and waited.

Suddenly, to her infinite disgust,
 she began to cry. She didn't want Edwin to love her like that because it gave him such a hold on her. You couldn't help feeling a certain pity
 and tenderness for a man whose devotion had been so enduring and so whole-hearted, even while you knew
 that you didn't return it and probably never would.

His distress was intense. "Emily!"
 he begged, laying an arm gently about her shoulders. "Please don't. I won't hurry you; I just wanted you
 to know."

She managed a shaky smile and
 the arm tightened, very slightly,
 about her shoulders. In a moment,
 if she didn't speak, he would be kissing her reverently, and she didn't want to be kissed reverently.

She waited, when the time came,
 to be smothered, as David had smothered
 her. But this was certainly not the right time.

Sundown Stories

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

FIRST of all we must gather berries and apples," said Willy Nilly, and all of the Puddle Mud
 diers went to the bushes and to the trees and gathered all they could.

Soon they were ready for the jelly making.

Sweet Face, who had been taking a rest under a shady tree, now joined them.

"Just in time to help us pick berries and knock down apples," cried Christopher Columbus Crow.

"Dear land me," blushed Sweet Face. "You don't mean to tell me
 you've gathered all this amount and still want more."

"You weren't around when we were busy," cried Christopher.
 "You knew just the time to take a rest."

"Now Christopher that is not fair,"
 blushed Sweet Face, a hurt expression on the lamb's face. "I didn't know you were busy. If you had told me you knew how glad I would have been to help."

"Maybe you can stir the jelly,"
 suggested Christopher.

"I'd only be helped to try," said
 Sweet Face, but for not much of a lamb hand at cooking. Perhaps you'd better give me something to do
 which I could do well."

"Such as doing nothing," cried
 Christopher.

Christopher gave Sweet Face a flip
 with his right wing.

"I see through you, Lamb," he cried, "but you're pretty clever to manage as you do."

"I'm going to taste, graft, graft,"
 growled Jupiter Bear.

"So am I," growled Blacky Bear.
 The bears could hardly wait for the first of the jelly to be made.

Class Power Increases

IT MAY be recalled, too, that less than a year ago, when the country was supposed to be stampeding toward the left, predictions were heard that by 1936 Mr. Roosevelt might find himself the leader of the right, the last hope against extreme radicalism.

Instead, the most conspicuous movement against him today is a movement of right wingers who are appealing to the conservatives to defeat him in 1936.

Predictions were heard that the congressional session would produce new radical leaders of dangerous power, who would capitalize for political purposes the tremendous congressional swing away from conservatism.

Instead, the one man on capitol
 hill whose power and renown have increased almost hourly is Senator
 Charles McNary, who stands militant and merciless against radicalism
 and against many of the policies of the administration.

What does all of this portend for the coming campaign year? It will be interesting to see.

The World of STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES

South American countries, being almost regular weekly contributors
 to the new in stamps, are presenting this time Nicaragua with two items that come under the classification of surcharges, one for airmail and the other for regular postage.

The airmail, the second so overprinted, creates a new variety for use in the Central American air service.

The particular stamp used is the 25-centavo olive black of the 1929 issue, with the surcharged
 reading: "Central American service, value 10 centavos." It shows two airplanes flying over Mt. Motomoto.

The other surcharge brings into general postage use a previously surcharged 6-centavo bistre brown similar to the type of 1914 showing Leon cathedral. The former surcharge, in script, which appeared on a complete set of stamps, was for special use not regarded by the catalog compil-ers as placing it within the realm of postal paper. The overprint makes the value one-half centavo.

"Easy" Country
 The easiest and quickest "country" to complete in all of those listed is White Russia. It has a total of only 10 varieties, divided into five

New York, Aug. 28 (AP).—President Franklin D. Roosevelt painted "a defeatist picture" in speaking of the recent depression," Chase Mellen, Jr., New York county Republican leader, charged last night in an attack on the chief executive's speech during the Milwaukee convention of young Democrats.

"The prospect which he (the president) indicated for the coming generation of a people ambling along between the shafts of regimented poverty on which were perched a mass of governmental bureaucrats is probably one of the most defeatist pictures ever sketched by the titular head of a nation," Mellen said.

"Saturday night he was pleased to refer to the 'recent depression.' This was but a play on words to cover up the fact that we have a present depression which Mr. Roosevelt might discover if he would once more go out on Mr. Astor's yacht and see the individuals trees of the nation, and not be obscured by the forest of his own phrases and platitudes.

"There is a present depression although the people of this nation have given up invaluable rights and obligated themselves to a debt of billions of dollars."

Moffett Resigns Housing Position

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP)—The resignation of James A. Moffett, federal housing administrator, was announced today by President Roosevelt.

Moffett, who has been seeking for months to return to private business, will leave the government service September 1. Stewart McDonald, acting administrator, is said to be in line for Moffett's post.

In his letter of resignation, Moffett told the President that despite necessary delays in getting the housing program under way the housing administration was insuring construction and repair loans at the rate of $60,000,000 a month.

He also quoted bureau of labor statistics to show that residential building permits through the country in July had increased 214 percent in value as compared with July, 1934. Non-residential permits were up to 18.4 per cent, he said, while alteration and repair permits had jumped 35.9 per cent.

Mr. Roosevelt replied to the departing administrator, in part: "You have done a splendid piece of work, considering especially that you did not commence operations under the National Housing Act until one year and one month ago, and considering also that you had to obtain enabling legislation from the legislature of 45 states."

The housing administration was created by Congress for the purpose of insuring mortgages on new construction and loans for repairs and modernization.

Cayuga County Girl Trips on "Cachet"

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—Even though she couldn't spell "cachet," 12-year-old Evelyn Jones of Cayuga county, is the champion speller of the elementary schools of New York state.

She neglected to add the final "t" and that was her only slip during her attempts at 500 words given in the annual spelling bee at the state fair yesterday.

Miss Marion Gilbert, 13, of Putnam county misspelled two words and took second place. Miss America Bona, 14, of Dutchess county took third place while Miss Virginia Chimer, 16, of Nassau county, won fourth prize.

Forty-nine boys and girls from as many counties in the state competed in the contest, which was conducted by Dr. Frank P. Graves, state commissioner of education.

Words which the students found difficult were kleptomania, comatose, rhinoceros, cognizance, finicky, innocuous, laryngitis, exorcist, imperturbable, promiscuous, erysipelas and fizzle.

JOHN ROOSEVELT VISITS DUTCHESS FAIR AT RHINEBECK

Rhinebeck, Aug. 28—Despite more or less unsettled weather conditions, a true carnival spirit pervaded the atmosphere at the Dutchess county fairgrounds Tuesday. One of the early visitors was John Roosevelt, son of the President, who visited the various features of the exhibition and particularly the horse show ring where he plans to compete for some of the coveted prizes during the horse show which opens today and continues through Friday.

Several of the 65 fast harness horses stabled in the race barns took advantage of a fine track moistened by early morning showers for trial runs over the half-mile course. An outstanding program of circus acts proved a magnet of attraction at the grand stand with a happy crowd of kiddies calling on the clowns for encore after encore. A complete program of eight acts of vaudeville will be presented each remaining afternoon of the fair, with a double bill of these acts and a wild west rodeo scheduled each evening in front of the grand stand.

A fast field of 20 of the country's leading auto race stars will compete in five events in the A. A. A. sanctioned races on Saturday on the fastest half-mile dirt track in the state.

MRS. JAMES ROOSEVELT TO OPEN WEST PARK SHOW

Thursday, September 5, the sixth annual flower show and bazaar of the Church of the Ascension, West Park, will be held in the Church Community House and will be opened by Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of President Roosevelt. At the same time Mrs. Roosevelt will be asked to select her favorite seedling dahlia from among the exhibits and name it for herself. Mrs. Alton Brooks Parker, chairman of the flower show, is also to have a seedling dahlia named for her. The flower show will continue until 5 o'clock, and at 3 p. m. the flowers, plants, fruits and vegetables will be auctioned to the highest bidder. A cafeteria luncheon and supper will be served, and at the several booths fancy articles, candies, cakes and ice cream will be on sale. The flower show and bazaar are under the auspices of the Women's Guild of the Church of the Ascension, Miss Cora M. Hall, president, and the proceeds will be applied toward the mortgage on the Community House. Mrs. William Van Benschoten, West Park, is chairman of entries.

WORK PREFERRED TO JAIL

An ultimatum by General Hugh Johnson that persons on relief in New York either had to work or go to jail, brought men out by the hundreds to sign up for jobs. Here a crowd of them can be seen getting on the work rolls. The ultimatum came when General Johnson had been able to fill only 6,000 out of a possible 26,000 jobs on WPA projects. Shoemaker Draws Stares—
But Never A Fascist Salute

With trouble brewing between Italy and Ethiopia, the people of Eugene O'Neill, stare more than ever at Harvey Dayton, a shoemaker. For Dayton's resemblance to Benito Mussolini, Italy's premier, is startling.

Dayton was the hit of a show with a characterization of Il Duce at a recent University of Oregon theatrical performance. Since then crowds have come to his shoe shop to look him over.

So far as he knows, Dayton is of American lineage.

Miss Yurka Breaks Tradition—
Actually Likes First Film Role

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Blanche Yurka, the stage star, once said that if she came to pictures she would like to be in a role so definitely a "character" that she could lose herself—and all self-consciousness—in it.

"And they must have heard of my desire," she says now, "because they brought me 'Madame Defarge'."

So here is a stage star actually pleased with her first film role, pleased with its proportions and its opportunities, and pleased especially that she plays it in such weird and thoroughly satisfying manner that on the screen she is a stranger to herself.

The 'Wild Duck' Won
Four or five years ago, when Metro was planning "Madame X," Blanche Yurka was considered for the part. But, then, she was considered that she is, and "The Wild Duck," on Broadway, won out over the wild call of Hollywood. Now that she is here at last, she likes the movies—oh, very much!

The films are doing such very interesting things now," she elaborates, citing some of the classics going before the cameras, and including, of course, "A Tale of Two Cities," in which her "Madame Defarge" assumes considerable importance.

"And that is one of the interesting things about pictures," she added. "I mean the way they can build up a character such as Madame Defarge until she is a symbol of the vengeance of a whole class. In the stage version of Dickens' story she is entirely ordinary, but in the picture they have made her a powerful symbol."

Would Like More
Miss Yurka is frank in admitting that she will be interested in further film opportunities. She would like to be "Mary Pickford" in the picture "Oliver Twist"—in fact, she would enjoy a film career almost.

HOME INSTITUTE BOOKLET EXPLAINS THE HOWS AND WHYS OF ETIQUETTE

YOU'RE JUDGED BY BEHAVIOR AT TABLE

Here we've caught the Fork Gripper... the Table Camper... and the Chicken Bone Nibbler all at the same table. What tell-tale indications their table manners are!

There's a sad future ahead of our Fork Gripper! Wherever she goes, she will meet social disapproval. Why? Well, just see the awkward way she spreads her fingers out over the blade of her knife, and uses her fork like a spear. If she only knew how conveniently and gracefully she might hold her knife and fork—with the fingers placed easily about the handles!

The hands in the lower part of the picture belong—aren't it obvious?—to a lover of chicken. Muttering "You don't mind, do you?" this woman picks up her chicken bones in her fingers. She looks anything but charming, doesn't she! She might have done this in the privacy of the family circle, but it isn't the sort of thing to do in public.

The Table Camper

Now glance at the right-hand corner of the illustration. There the Table Camper—the man who brings the camping manners to the table—has suspended his knife and fork from his plate. When it's time to remove his plate, the hostess will be inconvenienced, and there may be spots on the tablecloth.

Not all breaches of table etiquette are as obvious as these. Sometimes the best informed people are puzzled by trying little problems they have never confronted before. What, for instance, should be done with your napkin at a supper dance? What does etiquette say about sipping bouillon from a cup... or about eating fruit at the table?

More About Etiquette

These, and countless other questions of every day etiquette are answered in our Home Institute booklet, ETIQUETTE FOR EVERY DAY, in chapters about such things as:

- Manners in Public
- Charm
- Etiquette When Traveling
- Popularity
- Invitations
- Girls and Men

BARBARA BELL FASHION PATTERNS

Pattern Nos. 1597-B and 1575-B

The Barbara Bell Pattern Book featuring fall designs is ready. Send 15 cents today for your copy.

Two Frocks Smart Juniors Will Want

Soft Little Frock for the Junior's Best Dress

No. 1597-B. It is often difficult to find a party frock for the young girl which conforms to her ideas of what is suitable for her years and dignity, and one that is acceptable to mother. The frock in the illustration will please both mother and daughter.

The blouse is gathered on a shallow round yoke, both in front and back, and the yoke becomes flaring little cape over the shoulders. In summer the sleeves may be omitted, but for dancing class, and matinees, and little parties, their short puffs are very good. The skirt is simple, but becomingly wide, and there may be a little belt of the same material used for the dress, or a ribbon sash and bow.

Slit crepe is best for the dress-up frock.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1597-B is designed in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 10 requires 3 1/2 yards of 36-inch material. This pattern may be procured for ..... cents.

Dress with Wide Bertha, for the Early Teen

No. 1575-B. A frill about the neck is about the most becoming bit of adornment for the young teen. And she should wear it for all the teen she can wear it, when, on account of the ravages of years, it simply won't do at all. Sometimes the frill is placed, sometimes a wide circular bertha, sitting close around the base of the round little throat, as in the illustration.

The production of vegetables, especially of potatoes and sweet potatoes, doubled during the ten-year period 1919 to 1929. At the same time the population increased only about 21 per cent according to Professor Thompson. In general, he says, the greatest increase in consumption of vegetables has been in the green vegetables, tomatoes, and in some of the root crops.

Vegetable growing has increased more in recent years than has any other major agricultural industry, says Professor H. C. Thompson of the New York State College of Agriculture.

It was the custom for the district clergyman to visit the village school once a month to instruct the boys in the catechism. And as the boys always sat in alphabetical order in the class, the same questions always came to the same boys. But one day, just before the class was started, the top boy was called away by his mother. The first question, "Who made you?" was therefore put to the boy who usually received the second question, and he promptly replied: "Jesus Christ." "No, no, my boy," exclaimed the parson. "Surely, you know that God made you." "Oh, no," corrected the youngster. "You forgot that the boy God made went home to his mother."

Human Skulduggery Gives Monks Hangover Three "Sots" Captured

Massapequa, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP).—Victims of vicious skulduggery, three drunken monkeys were captured today and returned to Frank "Blind-Em-Back-Alive" Buck's monkey camp.

They had terrific hangovers. The monkeys had fallen for a last and desperate trick on the part of Buck's employees who have employed various methods to capture them since they escaped from the animal house more than a week ago.

The animals had limbed too freely of whiskey which was placed last night in saucers and scattered over the woods in which the fugitives were hiding.

The inebriated trio was taken into custody without much trouble, cock-eyed and defenseless.

Two of the "sots" were extremely belligerent, apparently had grandiose delusions. They wanted to fight but were in no shape for it. They made futile passes at each other, missed, fell down and contented themselves with drunken gibbering.

The souses and simians were placed in separate cages and provided with ice and cold water.

The monkey-hunters scoured the woods, hoping to find the remaining 12 monkeys still at large. Originally, 175 of the beasts escaped.

They suspected that the missing animals were lying about in secluded spots, full of whiskey, since most of the saucers were found empty this morning.

PAUL BOICE, County Treasurer

New York, Aug. 28 (AP).—The stock market still felt the weight of profit taking and selling today but found enough support on dips to keep fluctuations within a narrow range.

With the exception of a few specialties that moved in a wider area, active shares settled down to a quiet backing and filling pace within striking distance either way of Tuesday's finale, after recovering from a sinking spell during the first hour that sent leaders a point or more lower under heavy offerings.

The commodity trend followed the same general pattern. Wheat and other grains edged forward for small gains at the opening but slipped back later. Cotton conceded most of its early modest improvement but also displayed no disposition to get out of hand. Corporate bonds leaned backward but U. S. governments showed some improvement. Foreign exchanges were quiet.

Stocks that found support when under pressure today included a long list of industrials, utilities and metals that were prominent in the break of Tuesday.

Kingston Shows Way, Says Poughkeepsie

The Poughkeepsie Evening Star and Enterprise commenting editorially on what Kingston has to show for handling the work relief problem says, under the heading "Kingston Shows the Way":

Poughkeepsie may read with some chagrin of the action by the city of Kingston in approving a venture to build an $800,000 junior high school—with the PWA paying 45 per cent of the cost. Alone, this action might not be a startling one, but coming after Kingston's successful movement to build a municipal incinerator as a TERA venture, it becomes significant.

Kingston, apparently, has taken the long-time view of the current spending movement, and sought to enrich her physical resources with desirable and permanent improvements. When the TERA and the PWA are but memories, Kingston may point with pride to the incinerator and the junior high school, as far-reaching public improvements obtained when the spending fever was at its height. In other words, Kingston is getting something for the money it is spending under the guise of relief payments.

Poughkeepsie, by comparison, becomes a rather sad spectacle. Other than the shelter atop College Hill, which was made possible only through the generosity of the late Guilford Dudley, who loved his city well enough to seek to enrich it by his labors, and the remodeled courthouse, Poughkeepsie will have little to show for the money it spent. Tens, even hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent under the guise of work relief, but there is little in the way of permanent public improvements to show for the dollars.

Now the city administration is getting excited about an infirmity, a $70,000 PWA project. Somehow, the infirmity seems to have hopped from the WPA to the PWA, which is quite understandable in view of the maze of complexities surrounding such projects. Instead of solving a problem in providing a permanent public improvement, the Administration doubtless will increase the problems of the private hospitals which have been doing good service in caring for the indigent sick.

Poughkeepsie may view with envy the way Kingston is handling her work relief problem.

Fighting Fox Merger

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP).—A motion picture company is to merge the Fox Film Corporation and Twentieth Century Pictures, Inc., was denied today by Supreme Court Justice Edward Laransky of the appellate division. The decision clears the way for completion of the merger, which was opposed by a group of minority stockholders. Murray Becker, counsel for the minority stockholders, who sought the motion for a stay yesterday, charged that the merger was a move by the Chase National Bank to get control of the Fox Film Corporation. The merger was voted by directors of the two corporations last Thursday.

Farmer Goes Berserk

Defiance, O., Aug. 28 (AP).—A farmer crazed by jealousy fatally wounded his wife, shot a neighbor and his daughter, and then killed himself last night. The wife, Mrs. Margaret Burd, 40, died this morning and Coroner Fred W. Watkins returned a verdict of murder and suicide. Her husband, Edgar N. Burd, 44, wielded the death gun. The condition of Fred Kline, 37, the neighbor, remained critical. Kline's daughter, Helen, 14, suffered only a scalp wound. The scene was 14 miles west.

Residents Urged To Clean Up Weeds Here

Earlier in the season the Board of Health at a regular meeting took up the question of householders cooperating in clearing their premises of sumac, poison ivy and ragweed which afflicted those who suffer from hay fever each summer.

While some residents have cooperated in this matter there are still a large number of property owners whose land these poison weeds are growing, and they are again urged to rid their land of these obnoxious weeds.

There was some discussion earlier in the year of having the work of ridding the city of these weeds as an ERM project, but the State TERA frowned upon such a proposition as it would necessitate the going on private lands.

Sign New Contract

It was announced this morning that the Local Union No. 637, stage hands and operators of all Kingston theatres, had signed a new contract for the coming year. The provisions of the new contract call for better conditions all around, the members of the Union stated.

City League Series To Start 3:30 Sharp Saturday Afternoon

The City League series between Hercules Powdermen and Berardis A. C. for the championship of the city will start 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Athletic Field. More interest than ever has been manifested in the league this year and judging from the large crowds that attended the games throughout the regular season all records should be broken when these two teams get together.

Hercules were the winners of the first half of the loop, while the Berardis captured the second half after one of the greatest struggles ever seen in the loop. In order to win they had to meet Fort's Formosa in a playoff after the two teams finished in a deadlock.

Berardis beat Forts in the playoff and it was one of the greatest upsets in the annals of the league for when the Berardis entered they weren't considered fast enough for the more experienced players who had been playing in the loop since its organization 10 years ago. But once again youth conquered the veterans.

Hercules' team also is comprised of comparatively young men, although having much more experience than the Berardis, who only last year were playing with the American Legion Junior team. But this fact doesn't seem to bother the boys any for they have beaten every team in the loop.

In the last game between these two teams the Berardis came out on top of a very close 1-0 score.

Pitchers have not been selected by either team as yet but it is understood that Julius Chick will toss them over for the Berardis. "Spot" Cullen, who held the hard-hitting Forts to four singles this week, will also be on hand ready for duty.

Either Lefty Martin or Eddie Scherer, also a left-hander, will be on the mound for the Hercules. Al Short will be stationed behind the bat.

Berardis' other positions will be filled in as follows: Linden, 1b; Murphy, 2b; DeCicco, 3b; Vandersee, ss; Maline, lf; Tiano, cf, and Hopper, rf.

"Bing" Van Eiten will play first base for Hercules; Houghtaling, 2b; Cullum, 3b; Niles, ss; Quest, lf; Joe Dullio, cf, and Peterson, rf.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 24 (AP).—A soldier of the Italian army who intends to join his regiment in Ethiopia in October, was $2,500 richer today because he won the world's professional Snake race swimming championship. Gianni Giamploughed through the waters of Lake Ontario in 2 hours, 1 minute and 55 seconds to leave 31 other swimmers in his wake yesterday.

Frank Prichard of Buffalo, N. Y., held the lead for the first two miles but the Italian passed him and continued to win the race until he crossed the finish line. Prichard was second, with Bill Nolan of Chicago third.

STANDINGS

(By The Associated Press)

Some might charge Jimmy Dykes and his men with blowing up, but those who have watched the situation closely still contend the White Sox are the marvel of the current campaign.

With only mediocre material and beset with numerous injuries and other bad breaks, the White Sox have shown a spirit that has kept them in the fight. That their slipping was no fault of Jimmy Dykes was indicated by Lou Comiskey, the man who pays the bills, when he renewed the pilot's contract the other day.

The Sox, early season sensations when they surged to the fore in the American League, had their backs to the wall yesterday when they split a double bill with the New York Yankees to stay in the first division. The Yankees beat them 12-10, then Chicago came back to win 4-3.

The first contest went three hours, 15 minutes, with as much umpire bailing as actual baseball. The Yanks got 18 hits while the Sox collected 16, including Al Simmons' 15th homer. Each team had 15 men marooned on base.

Ray Radcliff's homer was the deciding blow in the nightcap. The Detroit Tigers strode a little farther ahead of the Yankees when they swept a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-5 and 5-0.

Thirty-two thousand of the faithful were there to see Schoolboy Rowe strike out 12 as he turned in his 16th victory in the second game. He gave but five hits and one base on balls, the pass intentionally. Not until the ninth did a Philadelphia runner reach second.

The St. Louis Browns, apparently out to regain lost prestige of nothing else, ran their consecutive victories to five as they defeated the Washington Senators 10-6 and 11-1. Buck Newsom, a former Brownie, was the victim in the nightcap.

The Brooklyn Dodgers ended their seven-game losing streak by turning back the Cincinnati Reds 10-1 in the second game of a doubleheader after dropping the first, 7-3.

Ival Goodman and Lew Riggs hit homers as the Reds went after Van Mungo, on the mound for Brooklyn, in the first game. The Dodgers came back to whittle the offerings of Johnson and Herrmann in the second.

The National League lead is in the balance today as the Cards, in the van by one-half game, tackle the Phils in a doubleheader while the second place Giants brush with the Pirates in another double attraction.

A. A. A. Will Meet On Thursday Night

The new local Amateur Athletic Association will meet tomorrow night at the Auditorium at 8:30 at which time the constitution will be drawn up and officers elected.

Stuart Parks urges all organizations to send two representatives to attend the meeting. Last week there was a good turnout but several of the leading local organizations were not represented.

The new undertaking has the mayor's approval and several of the leading business men and athletes of the city have expressed their hearty approval and cooperation.

It is said that New Deal investigators are going to sound out sentiment in the country on changing the Constitution. We suggest that they start in Georgia by letting the people take a vote on the question of the absorption of state rights by the government at Washington.

Mike Works Fast

Louis stopped the frightened Kingfish in a round, less time than it took Max Baer to turn the trick in an exhibition bout while he (Baer) held the championship. That paved the way for another natural—between Louis and Baer. Jacobs lost no time in clinching the contest and announced the match less than a dozen hours after the Louis-Levinson contest.

The Madison Square Garden group came through with a spirited bid for the bout but had to bow once more to Mike's cleverness.

Joe Foley was listed as the promoter of the Louis-Levinson scrap but that was merely camouflage to abide by the Illinois Commission's rule that only a permanent resident of the state is eligible for a license to promote boxing bouts under its jurisdiction. It was Jacobs and his staff who actually put on the show while Foley collected his cut for providing the front.

Wittenberg Sportsmen Clambake Saturday

Saturday afternoon from 4 to 7 o'clock the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club will serve the first annual clambake at the range adjoining Yankee town pond. Tickets, which are very reasonably priced, may be had from James A. Shultz, president, or Charles Morrison, secretary. A baseball game earlier in the afternoon will feature the general entertainment. There will be swimming and fishing and games for those who care to participate. The public is invited.

New members enrolled recently in the club are Robert Bolce, Catskill; Mortimer DeLong, Kingston; Michael Augustine, Kingston; Alva Buley, Ashokan; Leon Carey, Woodstock; Fred Tipplio, Glenford; Ben De Graff, Montoma; Frank Helbig, Glenford; Mr. Brown, H. L. King Co., Kingston.

SPORT SLANTS

Perhaps there was nothing radically wrong with the sport of boxing after all. More than likely what the game really needed was a promoter able to recognize a real fistic attraction when one came along. Mike Jacobs has proved to be just that sort of promoter.

Back in the hey-day of boxing when gates pressed the million dollar mark under the magic hand of Tex Rickard, Mike acted as sort of adviser and aide de camp to the late genius. And Mike gained some very valuable experience from the association. He has been around the fight game a long, long time.

In addition to having Tex Rickard's ability to sense a natural match weeks ahead of the other promoters, Jacobs uses much the same sort of bait the late Tex employed to land the matches. Once he corners his attraction he ties him up in the true Rickard fashion for two or three years.

He Grabbed Louis.

While the Madison Square Garden folks were debating the wisdom of offering Joe Louis a chance to show in the east, Jacobs stepped in ahead and signed the Detroit negro for a bout with Primo Carnera. Part of the bargain he made with Louis gave him the exclusive right to the services of the newest heavyweight sensation right through 1936.

After Louis had disposed of the giant Carnera in such sensational fashion, Jacobs decided that Chicago would be a good place to show him next. And what's more he dug up an ideal opponent for the negro.

King Levinson proved a perfect foil for the thumping Louis, for the bout attracted a gate of almost $200,000. Things broke perfectly for the new "Tex Rickard" even to the great promoter's proverbial luck with the weather man.

Mike Works Fast

Louis stopped the frightened Kingfish in a round, less time than it took Max Baer to turn the trick in an exhibition bout while he (Baer) held the championship. That paved the way for another natural—between Louis and Baer. Jacobs lost no time in clinching the contest and announced the match less than a dozen hours after the Louis-Levinson contest.

The Madison Square Garden group came through with a spirited bid for the bout but had to bow once more to Mike's cleverness.

Joe Foley was listed as the promoter of the Louis-Levinson scrap but that was merely camouflage to abide by the Illinois Commission's rule that only a permanent resident of the state is eligible for a license to promote boxing bouts under its jurisdiction. It was Jacobs and his staff who actually put on the show while Foley collected his cut for providing the front.

Drops Schmeling.

Just as Mike is quick to recognize an attraction when he sees one, he is equally alert in detecting lack of good faith on the part of any of the fighters he attempts to do business with. It was his plan to stage a Louis-Schmeling match in the fall, but dropped the German fighter like a hot potato when he felt that the demands of Schmeling were so exorbitant that they indicated that Max really never intended to accept the match.

Yellow Jackets May Meet Little's System

The Kingston Yellow Jackets will probably buck up against Warden Laves' Sing Sing aggregation again this fall. If, or when they do, they will undoubtedly face the Lou Little system.

John Law, former Notre Dame star and year's coach of the Black Sheep, has been promoted to an executive position at the prison and will be unable to give his time for football this year.

Sing Sing thinks that the Lou Little system is all right and has requested Mr. Little to send up one of his former pupils, who might like the job of coaching the boys in the "Big House."

The Yellow Jackets met last night at Nick's Billiard Parlor to discuss the coming season.

They will meet again Thursday night at the Pool Parlor at 8:30.

Results of Boxing Bouts at Catskill

Results of the boxing bouts at Catskill Tuesday night were as follows:

Jimmy Lambert, 147, Golden Gloves champion, knocked out Eddie Kelly, 152, New Rochelle, in 1:22 of the second round.

Maxie Conry, 122, New Rochelle, outpointed Jackie Shaw, 122, New York city, 5 rounds.

Johnny Corbin, 125, Lake Placid, outpointed Dave Pize, 121, Albany, 3 rounds.

Domestic Turke, 142, Albany, stopped Sammy Fuller, 140, Watford, in the second round.

Danny Mahall, 117, Watford, outpointed Kid Boria, 112, Manchester, 5 rounds.

Albert Smith and Charles Turner, members of the League, received the offering and the service closed with benediction, chimes and postlude. The pastor, the Rev. Alfred H. ### Marconi to Direct Italian Telegraphy

Genoa, Aug. 28 (AP)—Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of wireless telegraphy, will direct the telegraph, telephone and wireless communications of Mussolini's armies in East Africa, intimates of the inventor said today.

They said Marconi had already volunteered for East African service, but his enlistment has not yet been published because he plans to go to Brazil first as that nation's guest at the inauguration of an ultra-powerful radio station at Santos.

He will sail for Brazil September 10 in the steamer Augustus. After a 10-day sojourn he will return to do the uniform of a naval captain, a rank he holds from past service.

Marconi, his intimates added, expects to be transferred to the naval engineering corps, where his electrical wizardry would be most useful to the land forces.

Steinhäusel Goes On Trial in Vienna

Vienna, Aug. 28 (AP)—Otto Steinhäusel, former Vienna police chief, went before a court-martial today on a charge of high treason.

The noted detective countered with a prompt plea of "not guilty" in the web of circumstantial evidence which linked him to the Nazi putsch that led to the assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss a year ago. "I knew nothing about the putsch's plans," he told the court. "I did not place myself at the disposal of the Putschists—had nothing whatsoever to do with it."

The former police head said he was unable to explain why the Putschists used his name, unless it was because he had recently distinguished himself clearing up various outstanding crimes.

Chancellor Dollfuss, bitter foe of the Nazi party, was shot to death when Austrian Nazis revolted and seized the chancellery. After a day of disorder Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg succeeded to the chancellery.

Steinhäusel has been in prison since the day after Dollfuss's death.

Farley May Quit His Federal Post

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP)—The imminent return of James A. Farley after a vacation in Hawaii led to a renewal of reports today that he will relinquish the postmaster generalship during the autumn.

Farley, now in California, is to reach the capital next week to resume with full vigor the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee.

Party officers said today that the adjournment of Congress opened the way for an acceleration of party activity and that possibly a decision might be reached for Farley to devote himself completely to getting the organization ready for 1936.

A name frequently mentioned as a successor to Farley is that of Frank C. Walker of Montana and New York. Walker is head of the National Emergency Council and the Division of Applications of the works program. One close friend of Walker, though declining to be quoted by name, expressed the belief today that Walker has been offered the position.

Officers said that they expected to have enough money by that date to meet operating expenses until the campaign starts next year.

The owner of a Philadelphia restaurant who had him offered ice cream in addition, but Tony said it was too heavy for his stomach. (Associated Press Photo)
